

College of Humanities and Social Sciences

Dr. James LaPlant, Dean

Dr. Mark Smith, Associate Dean

1060 Nevins Hall

Dr. Adam Wood
Head, Department of English

Dr. Jay Rickman
Interim Head, Department of History

Dr. Ofelia Nikolova
Head, Department of Modern and Classical Languages

Dr. Fred Downing
Head, Department of Philosophy and Religious Studies

Dr. Joseph Robbins
Head, Department of Political Science

Dr. Darrell Ross
Head, Department of Sociology, Anthropology, and Criminal Justice

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences offers graduate programs that lead to the Master of Arts degree with majors in English and in history; the Master of Science degrees with majors in sociology and in criminal justice; the Master of Public Administration and Doctor of Public Administration degrees; and the Master of Arts in Teaching in ESOL and in FLED.