

College of Humanities and Social Sciences

Dr. James LaPlant, Dean

Dr. Mark Smith, Associate Dean

1060 Nevins Hall

Dr. Adam Wood

Head, Department of English

Dr. Jay Rickman

Head, Department of History, Philosophy, Religious Studies, and Interdisciplinary Studies

Dr. Ofelia Nikolova

Head, Department of Modern and Classical Languages

Dr. Joseph Robbins

Head, Department of Political Science

Dr. Shani Wilfred

Interim Head, Department of Sociology, Anthropology, and Criminal Justice

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences offers graduate programs that lead to the Master of Arts degree with a major in English; the Master of Science degrees with majors in Sociology and in Criminal Justice; the Master of Public Administration and Doctor of Public Administration degrees; and the Master of Arts in Teaching in Foreign Language Education (French or Spanish).