The Department of History offers two tracks that lead to the Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in history. The History Track is for those majors pursuing solely the B.A. degree. The History Education Track allows students to pursue double majors in History and Secondary Education and graduate with certification to teach as well as a B.A. in History and a Bachelor of Science in Education in Secondary Education / History. The Department also offers a minor in history. A graduate program leads to the Master of Arts degree with a major in history.

The undergraduate major and minor in the Department of History are designed to help students to further and to complete their general education by building upon the foundation that is afforded by the University’s Core Curriculum. The programs also provide students with the basic knowledge, skills, and values required for professional careers in history and for advanced study in the field. The History Track is a flexible program that presents students with opportunities to supplement the major by taking one or two minors. The History Education Track enables students to earn both a B.A. in History and a B.S.Ed. in Secondary Education / History with as few as 126 hours if all specific requirements are met.

History’s scope is extremely broad, and people and their institutions form a particular focus of the discipline. The use of language and the ability to communicate skillfully also are concerns of history. Thus, the study of history prepares students for many different occupations and professions in which such qualities are essential.

Traditionally, teaching has been a career possibility, but, as well, graduates of the program in history are prepared to enter graduate school for further study; to seek employment in business or government, in museums and libraries, in publishing, journalism, and advertising; or to enter the military, politics, or theology. A degree in history is excellent preparation for business school or law school.

Students who are interested in the history major or who have questions about the vocational possibilities of the major should consult with members of the Department of History in Ashley Hall.
